GUIDELINES

Quick Grants support a wide range of community-oriented, public programs that help us understand and appreciate human history, culture, values, and beliefs. Quick Grants may fund implementation of small exhibitions, discussion-based public programs, local history tours, and community reading projects. All Quick Grant proposals must demonstrate significant humanities scholarship and content and must be:

- Open to the general public
- Free or low-cost to attend
- Clearly interpretive and based in the humanities

Funded projects may serve to expand and enrich other public presentations such as exhibitions or performances provided, they are not being used as a cash match in another CTH grant.

Organizations may have only one (1) Quick Grant open at a time. CTH must approve a final report on the first grant prior to receiving a second award.

1.1 PROGRAM FORMATS

Exhibitions and Tours: These projects explore humanities themes through interpretive exhibitions or local tours. Project formats may include museum-style interpretive exhibits, online exhibitions and walking or driving tours.

Community Events: Programs that get people talking—the audience experiences a film, performance, panel presentation or lecture and explores the deeper meaning of its themes and issues. Whatever the format, the program should feature opportunities for the audience to ask questions and actively engage with the presenters and topic being discussed.

Community Reads Projects: Book-centered programs that go beyond traditional book clubs. They connect your community through a common reading experience with discussion and further learning about topics in the book. These programs may inspire action in your community or simply focus on deeper reflection on literature and learning.

1.2 FUNDING PRIORITIES

Connecticut Humanities (CTH) gives priority to projects that include significant humanities scholarship and content; explore topics and stories in an inclusive, diverse, and equitable manner; commemorate the 250th anniversary of the formation of the United States consistent with the America 250 | CT Commission's guiding themes; and do one or more of the following:

- Engage individuals and communities in the exploration of contemporary issues.
- Advance creativity and demonstrate ingenuity and innovation.
- Present accessible content that provokes, challenges, educates, and inspires.
- Ensure access to the project's content and scholarship beyond the length of the grant.

- Foster collaboration among organizations, groups, and communities.

Projects that help the public better understand and contextualize community issues or current events, relate the past to the present, are Connecticut focused, and/or incorporate Connecticut Book Award winning or finalist books or authors are especially encouraged.

Applications are due to CTH by 11:59pm on August 4, 2023, November 3, 2023, February 2, 2024, and May 3, 2024. Award notifications are made approximately one month following a deadline.

1.10 HOW TO APPLY

Applications must be submitted using Connecticut Humanities' online grant portal.

Before applying, organizations must contact CTH Grants staff (grants@cthumanities.org) to discuss your project idea. We are eager to help you submit a strong application and are available to review draft applications received at least two weeks before the grant deadline. Applications submitted without prior communication with CTH staff will not be considered.

If an applicant experiences technical difficulties when submitting their application, the applicant must reach out to CTH Grants Staff either by phone or email (grants@cthumanities.org) within 12 hours of the grant deadline to alert CTH of the technical difficulties. Incomplete applications where the applicant organization did not contact Grants Staff within 12 hours of the grant deadline will not be considered.

1.11 POST-SUBMISSION INFORMATION

- For information about CTH's grants review and awards management processes, visit: <https://cthumanities.org/grant-application-process/#grant-approved>
- You can also find resources for grantees, including a checklist of tasks to complete post-award, a Public Relations Toolkit, and information about your final report at the bottom of this page: <https://cthumanities.org/grants/quick-grants/#resources>
- Please note that literature-related grant projects will have slightly different public relations requirements. Literature programs will be co-branded with the CT Center for the Book, the state affiliate of the national Center for the Book in the Library of Congress, to provide increased visibility. These instructions will be sent along with the award email.
- Starting on January 1, 2024, CT Humanities' new Intellectual Property Policy will go into effect. You can learn more about this policy and how it impacts your projects here: <https://cthumanities.org/intellectual-property-policy/>
